

We walked along rocky river beds, overgrown paths, across rickety bridges, and along the edge of endless paddy fields. As the rice had just been harvested, the water buffalo could roam freely.

VIETNAM TREK 2004

We stayed in village houses which were not accessible by road, and visited a remote primary school, where the teachers and children were from the Black Hmong ethnic group.

At the end of the trek, we travelled back from a town on the Chinese border – that's China across the river.

TEENAGE CANCER TRUST
helping teenagers fight cancer

REGISTERED CHARITY 1062559

I raised £2,850 for teenagers with cancer –

THANK YOU!

Nigel Turner